Ponoka News

D. C. McLean has finished his railway construction work for the season, and returned home last week. He has been away for about four months.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Wight left for their home in Vancouver on Monday. They spent the fall at Brae Moray Ranch, Aiker.

Richard Came, who has been in our district for several months, left for his home in Victoria last week. He intends to be back in March and go on to his land in the Lochinvar district.

Mrs. B. Pendleton and Mrs. W. L. Ferries attended the Wetaskiwin Rebekah Lodge last week, and installed eleven candidates. The Wetaskiwin lodge is in a very flourishing condition, and its members are to be congratulated on the showing they are making.

N. Davidson, who has been in charge of the Revelstoke Sawmill Company's yard for about two years, has resigned his position, and left for Wainwright on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Davidson have made many friends during their sojourn in Ponoka, who sincerely regret their departure.

Quite a number of our local khaki boys have been in our midst the past week enjoying a short furlough. Ponoka feels proud of her soldier boys.

A. L. Farnum has been appointed manager in the Revelstoke lumber yards. Alvie arrived on Monday, and will be at "home" with the boys.

Several local farmers went to the trouble of sending horses to Edmonton last week, French officers being there to buy for the army. The general opinion is that they got a very raw deal.

Lance-corporal J. J. Jeffreys has received a three months' furlough, and returned from England on Saturday. Being a reservist, he was called up when war broke out, and has been in England ever since. Jack had the misfortdne to lose several toes by a gun accident several years ago, and being in the Army Medical Corps, has been doing duty in the hospitals. He has a most interesting story to tell, and says that the officers and men who have come under his care are most optimistic regarding the war. It will take time, but the outcome is assured.

Regulate Kidneys AND Relieve Constipation

Gin Pills are acknowledged to have the largest sale of any proprietary medicine in Canada—an achievement solely due to their remarkable virtue as a Kidney and Bladder remedy.

But users of Gin Pills have discovered that this invaluable remedy also acts as a mild cathartic. The evidence of hundreds of letters we have received establishes the very logical fact that in compounding a medicine to heal and tone up the Kidneys and Bladder certain of the ingredients have a stimulating effect upon the other organs, especially the bowels.

It is important to know, in the case of constipated patients, that Gin Pills do not act harshly on the bowels; there is no griping, but a gradual and gentle restoration of the function. Try Gin Pills for constipation. In thus relieving the bowels, you safeguard yourself against possible Kidney trouble.

Gin Pills are 50c. a box, or 6 boxes for $2.50 at your dealer's. A trial treatment will be sent upon request, to 18

Gin Pills FOR THE KIDNEYS

PROOF THAT THE KAISER MADE UP HIS MIND ON WAR

Proof of German duplicity in the fateful last week of July, 1914, is afforded (according to a remarnable article by "Americanus" in the Spectator) by evidence in an American suit. The case, which was tried in the United States district court of Boston, on April 1, arose out of the failure of the North German Lloyd steamer the Kronprinzessin Cecilie to complete its journey from New York on July 27. The National City bank of New York, for which Mr. Beck, the American barrister, who recently argued the case of the Allies in "the evidence in the case," appeared as counsel, shipped on that day about £800,000 in gold, part of which was consigned to Plymouth and part to Cherbourg.

On the night of July 31, when the German steamer was about 1,000 miles from Plymouth, the captain received by wireless a cryptic message, which stated that one Erhard was afflicted with catarrh, and the message bore the signature of "Siegfried," the code word for the managing directors of the North German Lloyd company.

The message came from Bremen, and contained no meaning to the captain, but Mr. Beck's cross-examination elicited that two years before, when the captain assumed command of the Kronprinzessin Cecilie, his predecessor had given him a sealed package which was to be left unopened unless he received a message from "Siegfried" stating that the imaginary Erhard had suffered some illness. In that event he was to open the package, where he would find a code which would explain the message.

On his opening the packet a code was discovered, which consisted only of words having reference to a possible war. It contained two basic sentences, one of which was "War is threatened with——" and the other was "War has broken out with ——." It contained code words for "England," "France," "Germany," and "Denmark," and additional words for different groupings of these powers. The particular message sent on this occasion was: "War has broken out with England, France and Russia. Return to New York."

The captain at once turned back, and, on account of the proximity of the British cruiser Essex to New York harbor, he put into Bar Harbor, where his ship was libelled by Mr. Beck's client for its failure to deliver the gold in accordance with its bill of lading. It was then shown although the company had appropriate code words to indicate a state of "threatening" war with one or more of the powers in question, the managing directors of the North German Lloyd sent, a few minutes before midnight on July 31, a positive statement that war had "broken out" between Germany, England, France, and Russia.

The significance of this will be apparent when it is remembered that at midnight (Berlin time) of July 31 the kaiser sent his ultimatum to Russia to demobolize in twelve hours. It is still more significant that the message was untrue. War had not then broken out even with Russia, and was not then even threatening with England. Germany was then nominally at peace with the world, and through diplomatic agencies was vigorously asserting the sincerity of her alleged mediatory efforts to preserve peace.

The psychology of this message to the German captain, which in view of the relations of the North German Lloyd company to the German government must be taken as semi-official, is that the kaiser and his government on the night of July 31 knew that they were about to take a certain course of action which would inevitably bring that country into conflict not only with Russia and France, but with England.

The avowed surprise and indignation of the German chancellor when Sir Edward Goshen four days later presented Great Britain's protest against the invasion of Belgium is thus shown to be in common with nearly all the German diplomacy of that crisis, a piece of characteristic Machiavellism, for obviously, at least as early as the night of July 31, she knew that she was about to take steps which would make war inevitable.

The Calgary Herald is incensed at the hoggishness of the hog-raisers in that vicinity, who, it seems, have been indifferent to the allurements of prices ranging from 7¼ to 7½c. and holding out for something better. This, says the Herald, is "affording an opportunity to their Buffalo and other competitors to swamp the eastern markets with their dressed product." It is not a "flood" of Buffalo pigs the Herald is afraid of, but of Buffalo pork; not an invasion by United States hog raisers, but by United States packers. Before the Alberta farmer is convinced of his patriotic duty to keep the Canadian market for the Canadian packer by selling his hogs for less than he thinks he should get, it will be necessary to show him the reasons and propriety of the spread between the prices the Canadian packer pays for hogs and the prices the consumer pays for pork.

The names of all citizens who have contributed to the Patriotic Fund, together with the amounts of their subscription, will be published in the Western Globe next week.

I have 250 sheep for sale. If you have any notion of starting in sheep it will pay you to see them. A. Gilmour. (O. 27-tfc)

The news from Serbia has started a stampede on the recruiting offices in England. It would start a similar stampede to the recruiting offices in Canada if the young men of the country were convinced that enlistment was the first step in a quick march to the front and not the beginning of indefinite existence in barracks in Canada.

Give your photo this year. It will save you time, money, and trouble shopping, and will be appreciated more than anything else. B. S. Cameron, Photo Studio, Lacombe.

It is probably correct that recruiting in Alberta is about exhausted—so long as prospective recruits are given to understand that no one knows how long an enlisted man must "soldier" in Canada before being allowed to get to the front. The allurements of barrack life are neither numerous nor over-powering, and if it is not going to affect the strength of the allied forces at the fighting line for an indefinite time whether he enlists or not, the young man is not to blame for preferring the freedom of civilian life. When the country really wants him to get on the job it can have him. It can't have him in any great numbers unless and until that is what it wants him for.

The dance on Friday night, under the auspices of the Lacombe Women's Institute, was well attended, and everyone had a good time. The ladies supplied a very nice supper, and the music was all that could be desired. Counter attractions at Brooksley and Spruceville kept a good many away, but the town people turned out in force, and the ladies will have a nice balance to their credit after paying expenses.

Did you notice the notice in last week's paper? Now, the old adage, "Be sure you're right, then go ahead," is directly applicable to the case of the person who has decided to secure a musical education. To get a good start means that success is at least well assured in almost any undertaking. You are sure to get the right start in music by taking your violin lessons from Mrs. Rose Greve, Nanton Street. Be wise; start in right now, and go ahead while you have this opportunity. See her advertisement in another column.

"THE MINISTER'S BRIDE"

The above is the title of a laughable comedy in four acts, which will be presented to the citizens of Lacombe on Thursday evening, December 2nd, in the Comet Theatre. The "Minister's Bride" will be the hit of the theatrical season. The Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Church is working hard to make the play a success, and if work will do it success is assured. The best histrionic talent in Lacombe is included in the cast, and it will be one long laugh from start to finish. Besides the play a grand concert is being prepared, in which the leading local talent will take part. Among those on the program are Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Garland, Mr. and Mrs. Woody, Miss M. Cameron, Mr. Bird, and a male quartette. The tickets have been placed at the low price of 75c. for reserved seats, and 50c. for general admission. As the seats will sell out quickly everyone intending to go should have their reservation made now.

FARMERS' OUTING

Under the auspices of Lakeside Union, U.F.A., the semi-annual outing of the farmers of the Lacombe District will be held at the Experimental Farm on Wednesday next, December 1st. All farmers in the district are requested to take a holiday on this occasion, and the ladies are invited to bring baskets. Supt. Hutton has promised the visitors a good time. These visits to the Farm are becoming more popular every year, and it is expected that the turnout on this occasion will beat all records. Remember the date—Wednesday, December 1st.

A REAL LIVE SALE

A business man who wishes to make a success of any enterprise on which he embarks must keep faith with the public. This is an essential factor. That the management of the New Clothing Store have done so was easily proven, by the results of the big sale now going on.

They advertised that they needed a large sum of money, and that they would sacrifice their entire stock to raise the necessary cash. They have kept their word with the buying public, judging from the large number of highly-satisfied customers who carried away choice seasonable merchandise at very low prices. They will keep the sale on until and only until they raise the amount needed.

An event of this kind is certainly a boon to the community, coming, as it does, just when the public requires the goods.

People throughout the entire neighborhood are speaking very favorably of this buying event, and are backing up their sentiments by large purchases. 24

Children who are old enough to Study are old enough to Wear Glasses

Many children in the critical period of school life, labor under disadvantages that a little care and attention could easily remove.

A dislike for books often originates in the extra effort to read them. Likewise often an appearance of stupidity and inattention may be due to eye strain.

Squint or cross eyes is usually the result of eye strain, which properly adjusted glasses usually cure. Three-quarters of the headaches come from the same cause, and will yield to the same remedy.

Whenever you feel uneasy in your spectacles don't hesitate to call and see us. Always glad to help you.

Bentley News

The Bishop of Calgary will visit Bentley on Monday, the 29th inst. There will be administration of Holy Communion, with an address by his Lordship, in St. Mary's Church, at 11 a.m. All Church members, and members of the W.A., are urged to attend.

Fine weather prevails through this district, although more snow is needed as the roads are very hard and icy and bare of snow in many places.

The rink is being iced; the reading-room is finished with Beaverboard inside, and altogether the Local Improvement Association has got down to business.

J. B. McPherson will finish the threshing season this week and start his engine for his sawmill, north-west of Gilby, in a few days.

Skating, hockey, curling, and golf on the ice at Gull Lake are some of the enjoyments of the day.

Ralph Wiese, of Carstairs, is spending a few days visiting his sisters, Mrs. H. Thorp of Bentley, and Mrs. Glen Marshall of Rimbey.

J. V. Veefkind has rented the Geo. Graham place, west of Bentley, and will move on same this week. Carl Wiese, of Carstairs, is moving onto the J. B. Veefkind farm near Bentley.

J. G. Blish, Geo. Graham, C. O. Graham, and Dr. Langhbaum and wife, constituted a hunting party that left for the wilds of the Saskatchewan, west of Wittenburg, on Saturday last.

James McPherson's "Mud-Demon" broke a rib on his trip to Lacombe last Wednesday evening, and will be laid up for a couple of weeks in the P. E. Thorp auto hospital.

No venison yet. Surely our friends are slow, or possibly getting barely enough for their own camp-fires.

Two marriage licenses, issued yesterday by our local issuer, is a record of this office. Gilbert Kind and B. F. Hicks are the lucky ones.

Mr. Gilbert Lloyd King, formerly of this place, now of Carlos, Alberta, and Miss Florence E. Rowland, of Bentley, Alberta, were united in marriage at the M. E. Parsonage, Bentley, on the 22nd inst., by the Rev. A. D. Miller. They leave for their homestead, near Carlos with the best wishes of their many friends here.

NEWS FROM THE BAD LANDS

Most readers, on seeing this heading, will say, "That news can't be from Alberta." They will be right and wrong. We have no bad lands in the Province; every real estate man knows that. These Bad Lands are so-called for the same reason that a dweller in the prairie, with not a willow within a hundred miles, will call his ranch "Shady Grove." This neighborhood is called after the inhabitants; they have all at one time left their country for their country's good, and as there are Italians, Norwegians, Belgians, Germans, Swiss, Irish, Scotch, English, etc., quite a number of countries have been done good.

The "Bad Lands" are situated within a radius of 1000 miles of Bentley in a north, south, west, easterly direction, and is easily reached by airship.

The chief Inspector of Ordnance for this district received the following by wireless from Steffansen:—

"From somewhere in the North.
"The Esquimaux are mobilizing. Allies have got the "Kaiser up the Pole."

The weather continues fine and open. Fears are entertained that the ice crop will be short.

Mr. Saul Langmaid is making rapid progress with the erection of his new barn. He raised six pair of rafters this year. The barn was originally estimated to take 150 years to complete, but at this rate it will be done in 125.

Mr. B. Jastu has almost completed his threshing route. He has six more stacks to thresh, and will probably be done by Xmas.

A proposal is on foot, and is to be presented to Parliament at its next sitting, when it is confidently expected the necessary funds will be granted, to lock the Rainy Creek from the upper Horseshoe Pond to its confluence with the Blind Man, and place on this waterway a line of grain lake freighters, as nearly 300 bushels of wheat were grown in this distrcit this year. Such a line, connecting direct with Winnipeg, would be a great boon to the farmers here.

Making Enormous Profits Manufacturing Needed Munitions for War

Ottawa, Ont., Nov. 18.—Details are published in the Wall Street Journal in connection with war profits made by Canadian firms.

"Big profits," says the Wall Street Journal, "are indicated by many of the Canadian war stocks."

The New York publication then proceeds to comment upon the profits made by the Canadian Car and Foundry Company of Amherst and Montreal.

"Canadian Car Foundry's total business," says the paper, "consists of a number of orders. The first was for 2,500,000 shrapnel and a similar number of high explosive shells, and aggregated about $83,000,000. Most of the order was sub-let among various manufacturers in Canada and the United States. Another order was for three million shells, amounting to approximately $53,000,000; nearly all of this order was also sublet. Other orders for shell parts booked totalled about $146,000,000. On the shell orders sublet Canadian Car and Foundry's commission is about $7.30 per shell. On this basis, profits from orders on hand should have run over twenty million dollars. Profits of this size, if realized in the fiscal year just begun, would pay interest on the $5,817,416 bonds, and leave a balance equal to more than 150 per cent. on the combined issue of $7,250,000 preferred and $4,225,000 common stock."

Commenting on the above profits, the Ottawa Citizen says tonight:

"Hard, cold business. The Canadian Car and Foundry company has a big factory at Fort William. During the days of frenzied finance, the Fort William people paid a bonus of $250,000 to the Canadian Car and Foundry company for the privilege of having car shops in Fort William.

"At the present time, little or no work is being done at Fort William, while the company is sub-letting contracts in the United States. As a matter of hard, cold business, of course, all orders sub-let by Canadian interests in the United States will escape any suggested Dominion war taxation."

Of the Dominion Iron and Steel company of Sydney, the Wall Street Journal states that it has been running night and day at capacity in turning out shells and parts of shells, also toluol and other by-products.

The Dominion Coal Company says it finds it difficult to find bottoms for the enormous orders.

"It is estimated," says the Journal, "that earnings are now running at the rate of eight million a year, or 13 per cent. on the common stock after the payment of accumulated dividends and all other charges."

"Steel Company of Canada (Hamilton)," continues the Wall Street Journal, "is another concern that benefitted very materially from war orders. This company is said to have a contract for all the shells it can make for two years and is now showing earnings at the rate of $500,000 monthly.

"Profits are running at the rate of over 26 per cent. on the company's entire capitalization. The $6,400,000 preferred stock is sharing equally with all $11,500,000 common stock in all profits over 7 per cent. on all orders.

"National Steel Co. has large orders for cars and shells. The company is machining 2,000 shells a day confining itself entirely to machining and steel forgings supplied by the Steel Company of Canada. It is understood that earnings are running at the rate of over 40 per cent. on the common stock."

Of the Nova Scotia Steel Co., the Wall Street Journal says that it has just increased its capacity by the sale of $2,500,000 of stock, "for the purpose of extending its scope for taking further war orders."

Other United States papers are writing on the war orders executed by Canadian firms. The Boston Transcript in a recent edition says:

"Shrapnel and high explosives manufacturers in Canada are making 50 per cent. profit on their business it is stated. The estimate is based on a report sent out by Sir Henry M. Pellatt (on the reserve of officers of the Canadian militia), president of the Steel and Radiation Company, Ltd. On 100,000 18-pounder shrapnel shells at $3.80 each, a total of $380,000, the profit is $200,000, Sir Henry states. A similar profit, he says, was made on the renewal of the contract."

The Canadian Millers and Open Wheat Market

Mr. W. A. Black, of the Ogilvie Milling Co., may be right when he says that free wheat between the Canadian and American sides would have cost the Canadian farmer at least 15c. a bushel on this year's crop. The knowledge which he possesses from the economic standpoint may be such that he knows whereof he speaks, and his opposition to free wheat may be justified on those grounds.

Nevertheless, if Mr. Black desires to prevent free wheat, and to convince the western farmers that his conclusions are sound, he can do it much better by building big flour mills with the immense earnings of his company than by merely making statements, which, by the way, are emphatically disputed by the farmers who have the wheat to sell.

It is a pretty difficult matter to convince either the free wheat farmer or the citizen with an open mind that the American market has nothing more for the Canadian farmer than the Canadian market has to offer, in view of the fact that, during a year when the farmers and others nearly went "broke" the Ogilvie Milling Co. made the tidy clean-up of something over $1,000,000 in one way and another.

If there is any advantage in the American market, that advantage has been created by the building of big flour mills to grind American wheat into American flour; and it is chiefly because of the big flour mills that a local market has been established at Minneapolis which offers some inducements, apparently, to Canadian wheat growers.

The people of Western Canada would rather sell their wheat in Canada than in the United States, provided prices are the same. And they are not particularly anxious to export wheat; they would much rather export flour, keeping the by-products for the stock of the farmers, if the Canadian milling companies would supply adequate mills to grind our wheat and to create somewhat similar conditions to those of Minneapolis.

The fact is, however, that the directors of companies like the Ogilvies sit back at Montreal and pull down their profits—this year upwards of a million dollars—and trust to the people of Canada to protect their home industry for them. What the Ogilvies and others should be doing is building big flour mills all over the West. If they want to preserve this country for their own industry they should at least provide for the natural increase in that industry because of the increasing yield of wheat, and thus do something to take care of a surplus wheat which is yearly getting greater. That would also help to create in Western Canada a local market somewhat in keeping with that of Minneapolis, thereby improving the local demand, and would probably do away altogether with that frequent difference in price in favor of Minneapolis, which the western farmer naturally desires to take advantage of, if there is any advantage.

If Mr. Black and his brother millers will supply the big mills that will create a competitive local market they will do much to eliminate the sentiment in favor of free wheat. The western farmers and people are prepared to listen to the plea of the millers against free wheat just as soon as the Dominion millers can show us that they are prepared to shoulder their responsibilities and provide the milling facilities that the interests of the farmers and country demand. It is unfortunate for all concerned, however, that the millers are not doing it. A dozen big flour mills in Western Canada for next year would have an important bearing on the present free wheat sentiment.

PANAMA CANAL WILL BE CLOSED FOR SIX MONTHS

Panama, Nov. 18.—Owing to the tying up of the Panama Canal by the recent slide, many employes, mainly in the operating divisions, are being furloughed or given vacations, which is taken here to indicate that the canal will remain closed for a much longer time than was first expected.

In some cases employes are being dismissed. It has been learned that it is the intention of Major-General George W. Goethals, governor-general of the canal zone, to force a temporary channel through the slide as quickly as possible, and pass through the waterway a few ships which have been waiting since the canal closed, and then again shut off traffic through the canal until all danger of slides has been definitely passed.

This probably will not be less than six months, according to the best available estimates.

The condition of the slide remains virtually unchanged, although slight gains are now being made by the dredges against the mass which is blocking the channel.

How Long Will the Great War Last?

One Eminent Military Writer Says Huns Will Collapse Inside of Nine Months

Reasons of all kinds are being given to support the view that the war will be over in nine months. Some of these reasons are mere guesses, but others have some real basis in fact, even when the deduction may not be fully justified. It will be interesting and valuable, therefore, to examine these various reasons and see what general conclusion is justified, or at least find out how far a general conclusion can be justly and fairly reached. The decided elements are not all known, but most of the uncertainties have become certainties. Only Roumania today, of all the nations that might reasonably come into the war, remains without. The man-power on each side is fully defined, and all that goes to make that man-power effective may be reasonably appraised.

When the war began, the newspapers and periodicals were filled with estimates of the number of men each side could put in the field. There is no need to rehearse all the arithmetic of those days. It was clear then that the Teutons could put twelve million men in the field; not all at once, but gradually. This they have done. They have lost about four million in killed, desperately wounded, and prisoners, so that they have still about eight million effectives.

Bulgaria makes little or no difference to the man-power, as Bulgaria's army is less than four hundred thousand. What Bulgaria has contributed is not men; but a friendly route from Austria to Constantinople. Bulgaria is not a nation just now, but a highway by which the Teuton may aid the Turk.

To oppose this eight million fighting men which the Teutons still have, the Allies have fully twelve million:

Great Britain	2,000,000
France	3,500,000
Italy	1,500,000
Russia	5,000,000
Total	12,000,000

Thus the Allies have now a third more men than the Teutons. In man-power, the Allies are supreme. If it were a question of numbers only, the Allies should finish the war in three months, instead of nine.

Unfortunately, it is not entirely a question of numbers. The Teutons' eight million are better armed and better-equipped than the Allies' twelve millions. The Allies are still somewhat inferior in rifles, in heavy guns, and in quantities of ammunition. The Russians have lost a tremendous number of rifles in their recent defeats, and a considerable number of cannon. It will take them six months to replace that equipment even with the greatest of success in manufacturing on the part of Japan and the United States. The loss of Poland was a heavy blow to the metallic and industrial resources of Russia, as the loss of Belgium and Northern France was to the Allies. The capture by the Teutons of one-third of the Allies' metal factories has been one of the great causes making for a long war. It benefitted the Teutons, and weakened the Allies.

Further, the twelve million allied troops are not so well-trained nor so well organized as the eight million Teutons. In the early part of the war the public in England and Canada were fed up on falsehoods about the imminent collapse of Austria and the Austrian army. But Austria has not collapsed, and her armies are still in the field. Indeed, it was the Austrian, not the German, 12-inch howitzers which broke the Belgo-French line at Namur, Maubeuge, and Antwerp. During the early part of the war the machine-gun equipment of both Germans and Austria was so vastly superior to that of the Allies that one battalion of Teutons had a defensive power equal to two battalions of the Allies.

But, as Belloc and other critics are inclined to believe, the supply of machine guns, howitzers and ammunition is now approaching equality. When this equality is reached the superiority of the Allies' numbers will begin to show itself. That point may be reached by the beginning of the new year; it surely must be reached before the spring of 1916. If it is not reached by that time, then the Allies will be displaying an incompetence which does not deserve a victory.

Undoubtedly the chief reason why the Allies should be able to bring their equipment up to equality with the Teutons is their command of the seas. The wonder of the world is the awful and majestic superiority of the British sea-power. Without a battle, with only a few skirmishes, the German and Austrian fleets have been rendered harmless, though not destroyed. The German submarines, for many weeks subsequent to February 15, when the German submarine offensive began, caused much misgiving in the minds of civilians. But slowly and surely the British gunboats and British mechanical appliances wore down the mobility and offensive power of that submarine fleet until by October 1 it practically ceased to exist. Today, the North Sea and the North Atlantic are almost as safe to navigators as in the days before August 3, 1914.

Yet the fleet's work did not end there. Absolute dominion on the North Sea, the Adriatic Sea and the Aegean Sea was not sufficient. There was still the Baltic; and in recent weeks the work of clearing those waters of enemy shipping has been seriously prosecuted and successfully advanced. We get only occasional glimpses of what is going on there, but it is evident that the northern terminus of the Kiel Canal will soon be as securely sealed as the southern end. The traffic in cotton, iron ore, and other contraband, between the Scandinavian countries and Germany, is being slowly reduced to a minimum. By the spring of 1916 the British fleet should be operating fairly freely through the dangerous straits which connect the Baltic with the Atlantic.

As in the days of Napoleon, the command of the sea is essential to the success of a great campaign on the land. Germany and Austria have given up all hope of regaining command of the sea in any direction. Their boats are resting in their harbors, awaiting the day when the Allies shall have advanced sufficiently to proceed with their destruction.

Further, the British have manufactured a new fleet of thirty monitors and three hundred submarines, with which they will ultimately penetrate every harbor and river in the enemy's coast line. From conquest of the open sea, Great Britain will proceed to the conquest of inland waters. These monitors are single-turreted ships containing one or two large guns. They are vastly superior to the two or three vessels used in the defence of the Belgian coast in October, 1914. They are more powerful and have guns of much larger caliber. They are shallow-draft, with a double hull, which makes them almost mine-proof and torpedo-proof.

The submarines are, in part, of the "chaser" type. They have a considerable speed, and are intended to "chase" other submarines. No one knows the full secrets of these nor of the monitors. All we know is that with this new fleet, it will be possible for the British to land forces in Belgium or on the German North Sea coast between Denmark and Holland. This may be advisable when the great drive gets under-way.

No one considers that Germany will succeed in her dastardly attempt to put all nations under her feet for any one reason. The stopping of the supply of raw cotton will not alone turn the scale against her. The stopping of foodstuffs will not be the one decisive factor. The shortage of money will not be the deciding element. The dwindling man-power will not in itself cause her to sue for peace. It will be the combination of all these. Or to put it in another way, the Allies must win at every point to secure a favorable decision.

The Allies must show their superiority in

(a) Control of the open seas.

(b) Ability to bombard all the ports of the enemy and invade his rivers and bays.

(c) A man-power superior in equipment and leadership, as well as in numbers.

(d) A gun and munition resource superior to that of the enemy.

(e) Superiority in the air, which will ensure an advantage in scouting.

(f) Financial resources sufficient to attain all the foregoing.

(g) A unity of intention and direction which will match those of the enemy.

So far only one of these; (a) as yet attained. The others are only approximately within reach. The monitor fleet is not yet large enough to ensure (b). The equipment is being rapidly brought to the point required by (c). The superiority in the air is almost attained. Financial resources seem likely to stand the strain for another 12-month without extraordinary measures. The unity of intention is fairly satisfactory, although there are political shadows in both London and Paris.

Viewed thus, it is quite evident that the allies may be on equal terms with the Teutons within three months, as Belloc has predicted. Germany's excursion through Bulgaria to Constantinople is only an incident. The front is lengthening in the south, as it has been lengthened in the east, and the Teutons cannot defend so long a front with a slowly dwindling man-power. They may crush Servia, and they may reach Constantinople, but the longer their lines of communication, the more vulnerable they will become.

In any case, this duel to the death cannot last much longer, and can have only one ending. The combination of causes and conditions outlined above will, when they are all realized, as they bid fair to be in the near future, bring a decision within measurable distance.

Equality in three months should bring a decision within six months more. Thus a finish to the war in nine months from now is a reasonable guess, though no one would be sufficiently fool-hardy as to make it in the form of a prophecy. Should Greece and Roumania come into the struggle, the end would be materially hastened. Should Greece remain neutral, and Bulgaria be content to allow Russian troops to pass through her territory, then the end may not come so soon. In the end, however, money, resources and command of the sea are the determining factors, and the allies either have these now in superiority or will shortly reach the superior position.

THE WOMEN'S NATIONAL ANTHEM

A friend from Montreal sends us the following:

While in London recently I came in touch with a little incident which I think will interest you.

I attended one day, at noon, a recruiting meeting in front of the Mansion House. A great crowd of men and women listened to the recruiting Sergeants, all of whom had "done their bit" at the front.

A lady with a magnificent voice sang patriotic songs, which perhaps were more effective than the speeches of the recruiting Sergeants. At the close of the meeting it was announced that after singing "The King" the lady would sing "The Women's National Anthem."

Then, in splendid voice she sang—

"God save our splendid men,
Send them safe home again.
God save our men;
Keep them victorious,
Patient and chavalrous.
They are so dear to us,
God save our men."

As she sang, every man stood uncovered and with bowed head, and there were not many dry eyes.

I think it would be a good thing if the women of Canada would learn this as "The British Women's National Anthem," for surely it is the prayer of every loyal British woman.

After the meeting I went up to the singer, handed her my card, and asked her for the words she had just sung. When she saw that I was from Montreal, she said, "Oh, I sang in Montreal, and will be glad to send the words to the women of Canada."

She wrote them on the back of the blue envelope, which contained my passport.

CANADA'S DOMESTIC LOAN WILL BE FOR $50,000,000 PAYING 5½ P.C. INTEREST

Halifax, N.S., Nov. 17.—Announcement will be made on Monday next, November 22nd, at Ottawa, of all the terms and conditions of the Canadian war loan, which is to be floated within the Dominion. This definite announcement was made this afternoon by the finance minister, the Hon. W. T. White, while addressing a large gathering of business men at the Halifax Board of Trade, when he discussed, in detail Canada's financial condition as a result of the war. The Hon. Mr. White said he hoped the people of Canada would give the loan their best support. He believes it a most attractive opportunity for investment.

Ottawa, Nov. 17.—The Canadian domestic loan will be for $50,000,000, it was reported here tonight. It will pay 5½ per cent. interest, and will be sold at 97½. The first payment will be made on November 30th, and will be ten per cent. The next payment will be 7½ per cent. on January 3rd, and 20 per cent. each February, March, April, and May 1st. Brokers will be allowed a ½ of one per cent. for placing portions of the loan and looking after installments and collections. On June 1st a full half year interest payment will be made.

POPE MAY RENOUNCE ALL HIS CLAIMS TO TEMPORAL POWER

London, Nov. 17.—To enable him to take part in future European conferences, the pope will practically, though not formally, renounce all claims to temporal power at the next consistory, according to a Rome dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company today.

It is assumed that his holiness has in mind participation by the Vatican in negotiations looking toward restored peace, and subsequent conferences for the establishment of post bellum conditions in Europe. To do this, it will be necessary for the pope to secure Italy's consent, and a renunciation of possible claims to temporal power unquestionably will be made a condition to such a concession by the Italian government.

The Vatican was deprived of temporal authority in 1870 as an incident to the unification of Italy. The nominal claim to such power has ever since been made, however, and it has been the Italian government's refusal to recognize it that has led the past four popes to remain voluntary prisoners in the Vatican.

The Girl From Nowhere

Girls, giggles, and gowns; songs, scenery, and stagecraft; lights, laughter and love—all these combined with deep, dark deception, and a host of minor mysteries, make up the season's spectacular success, "The Girl From Nowhere," which comes to the Comet Theatre on Saturday, December 4th, matinee and evening performances.

With its scenes laid in sunny San Francisco, and its action supposedly transpiring during the 1915 Exposition, it is, to say the least, timely.

The story starts in a big department store, Telfridge's main floor front, to be exact. Pretty girls behind the counters and fashionable ladies buying goods; everybody singing about the joys of bargain day when enters the "girl from nowhere." She has the mannerisms of a Mexican senorita, the class of a Parisienne and the airs of an English heiress.

WHICH DAY OF THE WEEK IS THE SABBATH ACCORDING TO THE FOURTH COMMANDMENT?

There seems to be considerable agitation in the minds of some as to which day of the week may meet the demands of the fourth commandment of the Decalogue. It is not with a spirit of controversy, nor of condemnation of any who believe and practice otherwise than we do, that we desire to call attention to a few facts of Scripture and history relative to this subject. This is a much-discussed question, and it will never be settled until it is settled right.

The word Sabbath means rest. In the first week of time, as brought to view in Genesis one and two, the seventh is the day on which God rested, and which He blessed and hallowed. Gen. 2:1-3. The week was thus established during the first seven days of the world's history, and it has been recognized by men ever since. The words of Laban to Jacob testify to this fact, "Fulfill her week and we will give thee this also," Gen. 29:27. In the wilderness it was known when God gave a double portion of manna on the sixth day, but none on the Sabbath. "And it came to pass that on the sixth day they gathered twice as much bread and they laid it up till morning. And Moses said, Eat that today, for today is the Sabbath unto the Lord; today ye shall not find it in the field. Six days we shall gather it, but on the seventh day, which is the Sabbath, in it there shall be none." Ex. 16:22-26. Had there been any question as to which day of the week was the Sabbath of the Lord, the giving of the manna must have settled it forever. This miracle was repeated more than 2,000 times for "The children of Israel did eat manna forty years." Ex. 16:35. It was during this time that the Ten Commandments were spoken by God, hence it must have been well known what particular day of the week was pointed out by the Fourth Commandment.

We are told that our Saviour was crucified on preparation day (Good Friday), "and the Sabbath drew on" and the women "returned and prepared spices and ointments; and rested the Sabbath day according to the commandment." Luke 23:54-56. Here we observe that "the Sabbath according to the commandment" was the seventh day of the week, for in the following verse of the record we are told that the next day, the day of his resurrection, was the first day of the week. Luke 24:1. Why is Good Friday observed? It is because Jesus was crucified on that day. Why is Sunday observed? It is because Christ was resurrected on that day. What then is the day just between the two? The Sabbath "according to the commandment."

Relative to the preservation of the week we quote from Mr. Horne:

"One of the most striking collateral confirmations of the Mosaic history of the creation is the general adoption of the division of time into weeks, which extends from the Christian states of Europe to the remote shores of Hindustan, and has equally prevailed among the Hebrews, the Egyptians, Chinese, Greeks, Romans, and northern barbarians,—nations some of whom had little or no intercourse with others, and were not even known by name to the Hebrews." Horne's "Introduction to the Critical Study and Knowledge of the Holy Scriptures," Vol. 1, page 69, edition 1841.

Dr. Coleman corroborates this testimony in the following words: "Seven has been the ancient and honored number among the nations of the earth. They have measured their time by weeks from the beginning. The original of this was the Sabbath of God, as Moses has given the reasons for it in his writings." "Brief Dissertation of the First Three Chapters of Genesis," by Dr. Lyman Coleman, page 26.

Dr. William Mead Jones, of London, has published a "Chart of the Week" showing the style of the weekly cycle and the designation of the different days of the week in 165 languages. He shows that the seven-day period, or week, was known from the most ancient times, and that in no fewer than 108 of these languages the seventh day is designated as the Sabbath or Holy Day.

With these indisputable facts in view, take the Fourth Commandment and the calendar, place them side by side, and there ought to be no difficulty in determining the Sabbath of the Lord.

VIVID NARRATIVE OF DISASTER TO HOSPITAL SHIP

Dover, Nov. 27.—This British hospital ship Anglia, with about three hundred wounded men aboard, in addition to the crew, nurses, and attendants, 385 in all, bound from France for Dover, struck a mine in mid-channel today and sank in a very short time. Nearly 100 men, most of them seriously wounded and in their cots, lost their lives.

The collier Lusitania, which was nearby at the time of the accident, immediately went to the assistance of the Anglia, and her boats had been just lowered when she also struck another mine and foundered. All her crew were saved. A patrol vessel succeeded in rescuing three hundred of the Anglia's passengers and crew, including some nurses. A number of bodies were recovered.

The Anglia was the ship that conveyed the King back from France on the occasion of his recent injury.

The mines are supposed to be ones that broke loose during recent storms.

London, Nov. 18!—The sinking of the Anglia, although the first case in the war of a hospital ship meeting disaster while carrying wounded, has caused great anxiety in the public mind, as it had been supposed that the English Channel was entirely free of danger from mines. The newspapers indulge in much speculation, some of them offering the explanation that they must have been German mines. The Anglia had 200 cot cases aboard. When the rescuing vessels reached her she was badly down by the head and her propellers were racing. Her stern was so high above the sea that one of the rescuing vessels was able to pass under her and forty men dropped overboard.

The crew of the Lusitania give vivid narratives of the disaster, according to which after terrific explosion, the bows of the Anglia seemed to melt away until the sea lapped her rails. She surged forward, however, in a vain attempt to reach shore. Soon many boats came to the rescue, including those sent by the Lusitania. Those watching the scene saw the soldiers coming up from below, assembling on deck, and calmly waiting the order to pass into the boats.

A rescuing vessel ran right under the sinking steamer's stern and immediately the crew set to work, under greatest difficulties, to transfer the wounded. Every moment the stern of the doomed vessel rose higher, and the hull veered sideways as though about to turn turtle, but still the crew worked on. Some of the wounded, unable to keep their footing on the sloping deck, fell into the sea and were picked up by the rescuers. Others jumped overboard. All the while the nurses worked with splendid devotion with the crew to transfer their patients to the boats. The difficulties were augmented by the racing propeller, which gave a circular motion to the Anglia.

The end came with dramatic suddenness. With wounded soldiers and doctors, nurses, and sailors still clinging to the stern the vessel appeared for a moment to stand on her bows, then suddenly went under, but left the Red Cross flag flying at her mast six feet above the water, marking the fatal spot.

GERMANY DECLINING SAYS HON. W. T. WHITE

Halifax, N.S., Nov. 17.—Hon. W. T. White, minister of finance, this evening delivered an address before the Canadian Club of Halifax, his subject being :-"The Progress of the War."

"Germany," he said, "has passed the zenith of her power. The advantage now rests with the allies, and this advantage will be increased day by day. Hang-on dog perseverance does it—and we shall win." His optimism, he said, was no superficial thing, but was the result of careful and reasoned consideration of the initial strategy of the Germans that aimed at the capture of Paris in ten days, of the defeat of the Kaiser's forces at the Marne, and of the growing strength and resources of the allied powers.

Addressing the board of trade this afternoon, Mr. White said that prior to the outbreak of war, Canada had been borrowing millions every month. When war was declared no more money could be borrowed. For the first six months after August, 1914, Canada had an adverse balance of $60,000,000. Since then all had been changed. There was now a trade balance in our favor, economy had resulted in the husbanding of our resources; our manufacturing industries were working at capacity; and our crops were heavy. It had been marvelous the way Great Britain had been able to raise, equip, and maintain in the field over three million men. This war would not be won by any decisive battle, but by attrition by the nation that could longest stand the strain on her resources. Canada had sent her thousands of men, and he thought she should now send money also.

SMALL BOATS ON HIGH SEAS NOT EXACTLY PLACE OF SAFETY

Washington, Nov. 18.—While the United States will wait for the Austrian reply to Ambassador Penfield's inquiry concerning the circumstances under which the Italian liner was sunk, it is stated officially today that the placing of American citizens in small boats on the high seas was not regarded as, according them a place of safety within the meaning of the term as used in international law. In its correspondence with Germany over the Frye case, the United States government expressed the view that open boats did not constitute a place of safety.

This was broadened today by an official interpretation to apply to United States citizens, whether travelling on belligerent or neutral ships, when officials qualified their assertions somewhat by stating that if a vessel was destroyed within a few miles of shore, but what weather conditions and the opportunity given for passengers to be transferred even then were pertinent conditions. From this intimation it generally was believed tonight that the government would develop the entire question of submarine warfare further in correspondence with Austria, and that even though, as the Austro-Hungarian admiralty has declared, 45 minutes were given passengers and crew of the Ancona to be transferred, this was not regarded as affording United States citizens a sufficient opportunity to be saved.

FARMERS!

HERE ARE SIX REASONS WHY IT WILL PAY YOU TO INSURE YOUR PROPERTY IN

The Wawanesa Mutual Insurance Co.

FIRST—Because it is owned and operated by the Farmers for their mutual benefit, and not to enrich stockholders of a company formed to accumulate wealth at the expense of the insurer or to share its profits with residents of cities, towns, or villages by insuring their property.

SECOND—The cost of insurance is not only very low, but you are not required to pay your premiums in advance unless you prefer doing so, and no interest is charged where premium notes are taken. The agent's fee is all that is required to be paid in cash.

THIRD—The Company is thoroughly reliable and long past the experimental stage, and its policies are better adapted to Farm Insurance than any others issued. The use of steam threshers permitted free of charge.

FOURTH—The cost of adjustment of loss claims are paid by the Company and not by the insured and settlements are always made on an equable basis.

FIFTH—Insurance on Live Stock covers them against loss by fire anywhere on the farm, and by lightning anywhere in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta. Insurance on Produce covers same while in building, also Hay and Grain in stack within forty feet thereof. Insurance on Farming Implements, Vehicles, Harness, and Robes, covers anywhere on the farm.

SIXTH—That This is the LARGEST FARMERS' MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY IN CANADA, and Must Therefore Be Giving THE BEST SATISFACTION.

N.B.—Members are only liable for the Unpaid Portion of Their Premium Notes.

THERE IS NO GOOD EXCUSE —YOU SHOULD FIGHT OR PAY

The collectors throughout the district in the interest of the Patriotic Fund will start actively this week on their work. Some work has already been done, and from the progress reported we think that the sum allotted to this district will be raised without difficulty.

There have been various objections urged by those who have been unfavorable to the fund. Invariably, however, these objections have proved to be far from sufficient to justify any man in refusing to do his duty to his country and thus placing himself in a position where he will be misunderstood and mistrusted by his neighbors and fellow citizens. The vast majority of those who hesitated for one reason or another, are deciding to do their part.

Three objections have been raised oftener than any others. Some are afraid of graft in the handling of the money. They have not understood that all subscriptions are publicly acknowledged and that all accounts are audited by the Auditor General of Canada, the auditing department of the Canadaian Government. Every detail in the administration of the fund is set forth by special act of the Dominion Parliament. The work, from ocean to ocean, is almost entirely done free and the men engaged in the canvass not only give their time and energy, but also pay their own expenses.

Others say the fund should be raised by taxes. Perhaps it should, although a good deal can be said in favor of the voluntary system. THE SAME MEN WHO ARE SO SURE THAT THIS SHOULD BE COMPULSORY IN THE FORM OF A TAX SO THAT EVERY MAN WOULD HAVE TO DO HIS PART, ARE QUITE GLAD THAT OUR RECRUITS ARE OBTAINED BY THE VOLUNTARY SYSTEM. IF THE PAYING SHOULD BE COMPULSORY SO SHOULD THE FIGHTING. This tax argument is alright for an excuse to crawl out, but it is a poor reason for a man failing to do his duty, regardless of what his neighbor does.

Still others say they are men of peace and will not help war. Unless the Allies win a decisive victory the world will know no peace. The United States is preparing now in case the Allies do not win. If the Allies win the United States and Canada too can go on plowing. If they do not win compulsory military service will become universal and the world will be deluged in blood. How the man of peace can stand back and fail to do his part in the great struggle for the world's peace is one of the mysteries we cannot solve.

There is no use. There is absolutely no excuse that can free a man from his responsibility in this matter. The most sacred duty that ever confronted the citizens of this country is now before them and no man can be happy in shirking it.

Pay or Fight !

Wittenburg News

The Red Cross dance, held on the 17th inst., was very well attended. The music was rendered by the Eckville Orchestra, whose efforts were greatly appreciated.

Ray Van Loan's sale was crowded, everything bringing good prices. We are all sorry to lose such a popular settler.

Wittenburg was honored on the 18th inst. by a visit from Mr. Hunt, the road inspector. He is of the opinion that such a progressive valley as ours has been much neglected in regards to road improvements.

The sad news reached here last week that Miss F. Peters died in Edmonton on Nov. 9th.

Mr. J. Mullarkey returned to the valley last week, and is at present the guest of Mr. Berry.

We hear that the Misses Thompson are leaving this month for the States.

Wedding Bells

Henderson-Staack

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Staack on Wednesday, when their youngest daughter, Hattie, became the bride of Mr. Adelbert Henderson, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Henderson, the Rev. M. White officiating.

The ceremony took place at 1 p.m., the wedding march being played by the bride's sister. The bride wore a gown of white satin and crepe ninon. Her bridesmaid, Miss Mabel Bouer, of Calgary, wore a costume of blue satin, relieved with white fur.

After the ceremony a dainty supper was served to the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Henderson left for a short honeymoon trip to Calgary and other cities. They have the very best wishes of their many friends in and around Lacombe.
